Governing law	Austria
Data class	Confidential - synthetic

1. Parties and purpose

Northstar Analytics GmbH (the Customer) appoints Aurora Field Labs Ltd. (the Provider) to deliver a synthetic document-classification pilot. The parties will use generated test records only; neither party may supply real customer, employee, patient, payment, or authentication data.

2. Services

The Provider will configure a sandbox, process up to 10,000 fictional records, deliver a model-evaluation report, and conduct one knowledge-transfer workshop. Production deployment, automated decision-making, and processing of real personal data are outside scope.

3. Fees and acceptance

The fixed pilot fee is EUR 18,500 excluding tax. Deliverables are accepted unless the Customer identifies a material written non-conformity within ten business days. The Provider will correct confirmed non-conformities once without additional charge.

OPERATING TERMS

4. Confidentiality

Each recipient must protect non-public technical, financial, security, and business information using at least reasonable care. Confidential information may be used only to perform this Agreement and disclosed only to personnel and advisers with a need to know and equivalent duties.

5. Data handling and security

The Provider will keep project data in the isolated sandbox, encrypt it in transit and at rest, apply least-privilege access, maintain access logs, and notify the Customer within 48 hours of a confirmed security incident affecting project data. Synthetic project records will be deleted within 30 days after termination, except for immutable security logs retained for 90 days.

6. Term and termination

The initial term is twelve months. Either party may terminate for material breach if the breach is not cured within 15 days after written notice. The Customer may terminate for convenience on 30 days' written notice and will pay for accepted work completed through the termination date.

6.1 Effect of termination and survival

On termination, each party will return or securely destroy the other party's confidential material, subject to the deletion periods in Section 5. Sections 4 (Confidentiality), 5 (Data Handling and Security), 7 (Intellectual Property), 9 (Audit and Compliance), 10 (Liability), and 12 (Disputes) survive termination for five years. Obligations protecting trade secrets survive for as long as the information remains a trade secret under applicable law. Accrued payment obligations also survive.

7. Intellectual property

Each party retains its pre-existing materials. After full payment, the Customer owns the bespoke evaluation report. The Provider retains its general tools, templates, methods, and know-how and grants the Customer a perpetual license to embedded Provider materials solely as required to use the report.

8. Subcontractors

The Provider may use listed subprocessors for infrastructure and support, remains responsible for their performance, and will give 14 days' notice before adding a subprocessor with access to project data.

GOVERNANCE

9. Audit and compliance

Once per contract year, the Customer may request current security policies, a summary of the most recent independent assessment, and evidence that project-data deletion controls operated. Any on-site review requires 20 business days' notice, must avoid access to other customers' data, and is limited to one business day unless a confirmed incident justifies more.

10. Liability

Neither party is liable for indirect or consequential loss. Aggregate liability is capped at fees paid during the preceding twelve months, except that the cap does not apply to fraud, wilful misconduct, breach of confidentiality, or infringement of the other party's intellectual property rights.

11. Notices

Formal notices must be delivered by tracked courier or email with receipt confirmation to the fictional addresses below. Operational chat messages are not formal notice.

This Agreement is the complete understanding for the pilot and may be amended only in a signed writing. Neither party may assign it without consent, except with a merger or sale of substantially all relevant assets.
